

St Margaret's Notebook

June 4, 2009

From the rector

Imagine that you are sitting at a piano, and with your left hand you press down on the key in the middle of the keyboard – middle C. What do you hear? One full note that fills your ears and your senses. It is pure. Now, imagine letting go of middle C. You might expect that all sound would stop. (From a sermon by The Rev. Timothy B. Stafford)

On Pentecost, those of us lucky enough to be present at church know exactly what Rev. Stafford is writing about.
Our ears, senses and hearts were overflowing with the notes and love sung as a chancel full of young men and women honored their choir director, Pam Griffin.

I would go so far as to say that those notes gathered as incense to the glory of God on Sunday are still resonating in the nave.
In many ways they joined the notes sung and prayers said at St. Margaret's through the years.

The celebration was another reminder of the Holy presence in this place:
the angels and archangels and all the company of heaven,
the delight in the eyes and voices of the singers,
and the ever-present Spirit that binds us all together

Additionally, there was a warm insight for me as I attempted to wrap words around the power and mystery of Pentecost.
I had struggled with whether or not I should “try” to preach and celebrate given my phobia of climbing stairs on crutches.
Julie and I had worked out several liturgical changes
so I would not have to move around too much.

However, once I stood up and leaned on the pulpit
I had one of those transcending moments.
I was there to preach the gospel but you did the preaching.
Your mere presence embodied the Holy Comforter.

Come Holy Spirit, fill the hearts of your faithful.

Mark you calendars for Vacation Bible school

St. Margaret's will again this year participate in a community vacation bible school with members of Carrollton Presbyterian Church, St. Andrew's Methodist, and Grace Lutheran. The theme is "Discovery Canyon Explore the Wonders of the Word". This exciting adventure will be June 15 - June 19 at Carrollton Presbyterian Church from 9 until 12. Classes will be available for children ages 3 through 8th grade. Many volunteers are needed to make this a successful fun time for all!!!!

Volunteers in grades 9th through 12 are welcome. Registration forms can be found on bulletin board in the kitchen. If you have any questions, please call the church or Lisanne Denmon.
